SATURDAY EVE., OCTOBER 16, 1886.

A REPUBLICAN, who had very recently seen Judge Thomas, remarked to us, last Monday, that Thomas looked as though he was already whipped.—Cattanooga Leader.

After our Democratic Wall falls on him on the 2nd day of next month and laments the life out of him, he will look a great deal worse than he does now.

T. A. D., the "owner and editor" of the Republican Enterprise, seems to be more concerned about the "kids" than any one else just now. The "kids" are too sensible a set of fellows to be caught by such "chaff" as T. A. D. is dishing out to them. They are Democrats, and the idea that they would vote for such a bitter and unscrupulous Republican as Judge Thomas, is preposterous.—The Independent, nonsensical chatter. A Democrat, who has any respect for himself or his party, will never be caught supporting a man of Judge Thomas' stripe!

SPEAKING OF Judge John James Key, who died in Washington City on the 12th inst., the correspondent of the Cincinnati Enquirer says: "After he left Kentucky he was the last partner of Hon. Daniel W. Voorhees in Terre Haute, Ind. Just previous to the war he was Judge of the Circuit Court in Perry County, Indiana. He was sent to England by Attorney General Taft in 1876 to represent the United States in cotton claims involving a considerable amount of money. His father was a nephew of Chief Justice John Marshall, and there also existed a relationship between the families of the deceased and the author of 'The Star Spangled Banner,' Francis Scott Key."

PUBLIC PRINTER BENEDICT has turned twenty-three more of the "rascals" out of the Government Printing Office, and to that extent still further crippled the service.—Republican Enterprise.

"Crippled the service?" Not so. The reverse is true. Mr. Benedict, after discharging 500 of the "rascals," finds that the office is turning out more work than when he first took charge. Why? Simply, because there were far too many employees in every department when he took charge of affairs, and half their time was spent in loafing. If Benedict can reduce the expenses of the office $60,000 or $70,000 a month—$600,000 or $700,000 a year—without injury to the business, the tax-payers of the country will not care for the "cripping of the service."

Wall, Richards and Hardin.

Attending to the speaking at Owingsville last Monday, the Outlook of that city says:

"The main court room was filled with voters at one o'clock P. M., and Judge Garrett S. Wall, Democratic nominee for Congress in this district, addressed them upon the issues of the day. The Judge made a good impression. He was an entire stranger to nearly all his audience, but he made friends by his able and dignified presentation of Democratic principles. Judge Wall was followed by Judge Richards, in a somewhat lengthy, but most interesting speech. Judge Richards' fame as an orator had preceded him, and he was listened to with closest attention throughout. Attorney General P. W. Hardin, who is a candidate for re-election, also made a few remarks, and of course bought down the house."

Kentucky Headquarters in Kansas City.

William Hunt, who returned from Kansas City a few days ago, reports that the city is thronged with thousands of people hunting situations and work of all kinds, and there is nothing for them to do. He says that since his return here, he finds that a paint brush fits his hand mighty nice, and his hand feels just as comfortable as possible for it to be. Also, that some of the Kentucky boys are rooming upstairs in an alley, and all new comers from Kentucky are most hospitably welcomed to "Kentucky Headquarters," and that very few of them are averse to wages accepting the loan of a dollar until wages are drawn Saturday night.

George Varden and William Shaw, Jr., report about the same state of affairs. George, particularly, says that everybody out there is in the "shark" business—even men to whom he had letters of introduction, tried to rope him in on real estate transactions. Mr. Shaw says that there are at least 20,000 men and kids there wrestling from dollar to post, heating off starvation, violently seeking employment.—Bourbon News.

DOWN TO DEATH.

Probable Result of the Jump Donovan Has Determined to Make.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 16.—Lawrence Donovan, the bridge jumper, arrived here Wednesday night, and is staying at the Otis hotel with Professor Labovise, a well known local sport. He is firm in his determination to make the jump that cost Sam Patch his life. When Donovan arrived here he had no idea of the situation. Labovise explained to him that there is no bridge from which he can jump, and that the best plan is to build a platform at the edge of the falls, the leap to be made from the platform. Donovan was also informed that but little is known in regard to the bed of the river, the depth of water, the situation of rocks, the character of the current, etc.

In the rear of the Genesee Falls park, Donovan obtained an excellent view of the falls, and said: "This is not half as high as the Brooklyn bridge. You may announce positively that I will jump." Labovise's plan was to have the platform built at the eastern portion of the ledge and extend out about fifteen feet, so as to clear the rocks. Donovan preferred, however, to jump from the center of the ledge, which is the highest point, and it is probable that the platform will be built there. The next thing to do was to sound the river to ascertain where it was deepest, not only for the jump and free the rocks. No boat was found between the falls and Vincent Street bridge, and it was decided to get a boat further down and have it carried up the river.

The work of examining the river bed with a sounding line will take some time. Labovise says he will raise a purse of $200 for Donovan. Chief of Police Cleary sent word to Donovan that he would not be allowed to jump. Speaking about the action of the authorities, Donovan said: "I do not think they have any right to interfere, and I think they will not when I explain that I am an expert jumper. I have been successful in greater jumps than the one I now propose, and will assure the officers that I expect to be equally successful in this case."

GERMANTOWN FAIR.

Third Day a Success—Large Crowds, Fine Exhibitions and a Good Time Generally—Premium List—Notes and Personal.

The managers and friends of the fair were greatly encouraged early Friday morning as the weather promised to be favorable, and great crowds of people were coming in from every quarter. The rain of Thursday had freed the roads from dust, and the wind had dried the mud and left the ring and grounds in good condition. The morning was cool and overcoats and seal skins were conspicuous. Some new attractions had been added to the grounds, and the rings were expected to be unusually interesting. Hauck's band was on hand earlier than usual, and the clear, pure air trembled with the melody of "Minnesota Exposition March" at 10 a. m., they marched to the fairs hall playing "St. Bernard," and formally opened it to the inspection of visitors by rendering several beautiful pieces in front of that building, which drew a great crowd. It is not too much to say that Hauck's band is receiving merited compliments and praise from every one present. That "Kentucky hospitality," which we mentioned in our first report, was fully exemplified Friday, for finer dinners were surely never spread on any fair ground by fairer hands. The attendance of the forenoon was good, and the great crowd of the afternoon, with its beauty, civility and good order, was all that could be desired, and every one was happy. We heard the expressions of a great many persons and every one seemed pleased. The exhibitions in the fairs hall are not so numerous as on some former occasions, but are very good, and a great many visited it during the day. We defer further mention and list of premiums for a later report. So far as we know, nothing occurred to mar the success of the day, and we voice the sentiments of the great crowd of the afternoon, when we pronounce the third day a decided success.

The exhibition of stock was fully up to expectations, and much difficulty was experienced several times in rightly placing the ribbons. Some "kicking" was indulged in, of course, but the judges were supported by the opinions of the populace. Who were the "blue" Friday, were an honor of no mean degree. Following is a list of the third day's premiums:

Wednesday night Elder Powell, addressed a crowded house upon the mission of Christ. His sermons have all been addressed to the members, but Wednesday night's services were devoted entirely to the unconverted. At the conclusion of the sermon, the invitation was given and two young ladies came forward for baptism. The audience continues to increase and interest is nightly increasing. The prospects for a great revival are very promising. Elder Powell is an attractive and forcible speaker, and has the praise of all who hear him.—Lexington Transcript.

A Romantic Marriage.

A rather romantic marriage took place the other day at Milford, Bracken County. The bride is Miss Lillian S. Cooper, daughter of W. G. Cooper, a prominent citizen of that place. She is a niece of Hon. Dr. R. L. Cooper, formerly of this county, and has a number of relatives residing in the vicinity of Rectortown, Orangeburg and Mt. Gilead, among whom are David Cooper, James Dickson, Rev. J. H. Wallingford, H. Clay Stone, the Goodmans and others. The groom is J. M. Riley, son of the inventor, William Riley, a well-known and respected citizen of that section. The marriage occurred on the 15th of last month, at the home of the bride's parents. The romantic part of the affair is that no one, except the witnesses and the officiating minister, knew anything about the marriage until days after it had been solemnized—not even the parents of the bride, in whose home the nuptial knot was tied. A friend writes us that "those who know all the particulars say this romantic marriage was the only suitable ending of such a romantic courtship as theirs. And now that they may be blessed with all the wealth and joy that they deserve or are worth, knowing that, if this wish be granted, they will soon be as rich as Vanderbilt and ever remain as happy as a boy the first time he kisses his best girl."
